The Developmental Cafe: An Invitation to Global Webchats

Action Inquiry Associates, in partnership with AR+|ActionResearchPlus, invite you to join us in online developmental capacity building web-chats. Designed for change agents seeking to address the big (and related small) issues of our time, we seek to discuss and grow the "action logic" adult development paradigm* for those of us who work with the "wicked problems" we confront. We bring a practical and scholarly approach so that participants are left after each web chat with: a deeper understanding of development; a sense of the value of being part of a community of inquiry/practice; a few useful ideas; and application "homework" that will enrich your coaching and change efforts before the next web chat . as initiated by Bill Torbert*.

Our first six web chats are intended as an experiment (and priced accordingly) so that we may learn together what our developmental community of inquiry/practice needs for our own development. To ensure continuity of the community of inquiry/practice, seats are limited (<25) to those who register for the series of six.Suggested donation: $500 for all six web chats. Scholarships available upon request.
